Stackable plastic pallets are typically used in flour, rice, salt or cement warehouses where the product is packaged. For more storage, the tray will be a good choice. However, typically each bag weighs approximately 50 kilograms and requires a heavy duty plastic pallet to load. However, the packaged product is easily deformed due to uneven force. Reversible trays will be a good choice to avoid this problem. Many of our Chilean customers use collapsible plastic pallets in their warehouses which can be used to store, load and transport goods. It is one of the essential logistics equipment in modern logistics and warehousing. If you have challenges in transportation and storage, we will provide a cost-effective solution to meet your needs.

Our industrial plastic pallets is specially designed to support heavy loads which is easy to use and transport. With 100% polyethylene construction, spill plastic pallet is compatible with a wide range of chemicals, while its low walls make casting easier. It helps to meet leak control regulations for up to four barrels and also helps maintain a safe working environment that prevents chemical spills from spreading and causing damage to the floor. Euro plastic pallet has proven time and time again to withstand the ability to repeatedly use closed loop systems.
